

We have taken field renovation to a new level by introducing a complete field evaluation, installation, and maintenance program all in one easy step. Your infield will undergo a detailed evaluation through our Ten Point Checklist outlined on page 2. All deficiencies will be corrected to the best available method provided by the existing topographical constraints and your field will be guaranteed not to hold standing water following a significant rain event. Best of all, once the certification process is complete, you will be eligible to participate in our unique Field Assurance™ program that will continue to make your investment pay off for years to come.

2" depth of 100%
DuraEdge Infield Mix

Approved Topdressing
or Conditioner

ABI Equipment - Motorized or Pull-Behind Groomers

Ten Point Checklist

- 1 Preconstruction field survey and evaluation
- 2 Measure the arc distance and compare to guidelines for level of play
- 3 Check bases for distance; square to existing foul poles & reposition if necessary
- 4 Measure pitcher's mound elevation; correct any deficiencies and rebuild with proper mound clay
- 5 Measure home plate for distance to pitching rubber & rebuild batter's boxes with proper mound clay
- 6 Laser measure existing infield grade & prepare base to receive new infield material
- 7 Correct any lips prohibiting positive surface drainage
- 8 Install a min. 2" cap of new engineered infield material properly suited to the facility maintenance resources & practices
- 9 Apply topdressing material to the new infield material and groom for play
- 10 Provide a complete maintenance review and recommended plan including daily, weekly, and monthly procedures; provide DuraEdge approved ABI equipment training with owner's maintenance crew.

Certified Installation unlocks the full potential of your facility.

Once complete, you will be provided a network of industry professionals who can help you manage any problems that will inevitably arise throughout the course of a long season. Our representatives are always standing by to give you the answers you need when you need them most!